Genna Garver will be speaking on the panel “Digital Assets and Crypto: What CCOs Need to Know Now” during the ACA 2026 Conference.

As digital assets and crypto continue to evolve from niche products to mainstream investment vehicles, compliance officers face growing complexity in oversight and regulation. This session will unpack key risks and regulatory developments shaping the space—from custody and valuation to marketing, distribution, and AML obligations. Panelists will explore how the SEC and other global regulators are approaching digital asset oversight, and what CCOs should be doing now to prepare for future rulemaking, manage third-party risks, and ensure program readiness in a rapidly changing environment.
