Jay Dubow, a co-leader of Troutman Pepper’s Securities Investigations + Enforcement Practice Group, was quoted in the December 6, 2024 Pensions & Investments article, “A Paul Atkins-Led SEC Will Be More Industry Friendly, Accommodating to Crypto, Experts Say.”

“His involvement in the crypto (space) certainly sends a message that this is going to be a different SEC than the anti-crypto Gensler agency,” said Jay A. Dubow, a partner who co-leads Troutman Pepper Hamilton Sanders’ securities investigations and enforcement practice group.

Under Atkins, the SEC “won’t be pushing the envelope in the way Gensler tried to do,” Dubow said. “I think they will also be more responsive to comments and concerns from (the) industry before enacting final rules.”
