

Podcasts | April 22, 2025

AI in Employment: Navigating the Legal Landscape with Lessons from I, Robot

The Good Bot: Artificial Intelligence, Health Care, and the Law

SPEAKERS

Emily E. Schifter | Brett Ashton Mason | Tracey E. Diamond

Join Troutman Pepper Locke Partner Brett Mason for a podcast series analyzing the intersection of artificial intelligence (AI), health care, and the law.

In this installment of The Good Bot, Brett Mason is joined by Partners Tracey Diamond and Emily Schifter to discuss AI in the workplace. They delve into what employers need to know about AI and discuss the transformative potential and inherent risks of AI in the workplace, along with some lessons from the movie I, Robot, including how employers (and their employees) are using AI, as well as the potential legal risks associated with it, including discrimination, attorney-client privilege, and data privacy considerations. Tune in to learn about the latest developments in AI, the importance of understanding AI systems, and how to mitigate risks associated with their use in employment settings.

RELATED INDUSTRIES + PRACTICES

- Health Care + Life Sciences
- Artificial Intelligence
- Labor + Employment