

Americas Private Credit Review – May 30, 2025

RELATED PROFESSIONALS

Jason Ulezalka

Jason Ulezalka, a partner in Troutman Pepper Locke’s Finance + Banking Practice Group, was quoted in the Octus article, “Americas Private Credit Review – May 30, 2025.”

In the search for safer industries insulated from tariff uncertainty, investors and lenders have been seen gravitating toward niche sectors such as infrastructure, according to Jason Ulezalka, partner at law firm Troutman Pepper Locke.

...

“Given the competitive lending market, and the resulting compression in spreads, we have seen a number of lenders looking to enter new markets where they can provide unique value and a differentiated loan portfolio,” Ulezalka said, noting other heated sectors such as healthcare, telecommunications and technology.

RELATED INDUSTRIES + PRACTICES

- Finance + Banking