

Firm Events | December 1, 2021 | 10:00 AM - 12:00 PM ET

Annual Year-End Tax Forum – Wrapping Up 2021 and Looking Ahead to 2022

SPEAKERS

Saba Ashraf | Bruce K. Fenton | Howard S. Goldberg | Justin H. Brown | Justin C. Esposito

Wednesday, December 1 • 3:00 – 5:00 p.m. ET

Many important tax-planning strategies are in the spotlight this year as Congress considers several changes to current tax law. No matter what happens in Washington, planning before year-end can better prepare you for the upcoming tax season.

For the insight you will need, you're invited to an in-depth discussion of current tax developments and how proposed legislative changes could impact your tax planning for 2022 and beyond.

Led by tax leaders from Marcum and Troutman Pepper, the panel discussion will be comprehensive for both individuals and businesses, highlighted by a special keynote address:

Richard Rubin

The Wall Street Journal

- Mr. Rubin is the U.S. tax policy reporter for The Wall Street Journal in Washington, focusing on the intersection of taxes, politics and economics.

Register to join us for a well-rounded discussion of today's most pressing tax issues that may affect you and your business.

If you have a specific question that you'd like our panel to address, you will have the opportunity to include it when you register.

Unable to attend the live webinar? Register and we will email you are recording of the webinar when available.

RELATED INDUSTRIES + PRACTICES

- Tax