Thursday, August 19 • 1:00 – 2:30 p.m. ET

Alison Grounds, Jason Lichter, and Kathleen Campbell will be speaking in an upcoming Strafford live video webinar, “Avoiding Objections to Privilege Logs: Criteria for Inclusion, Descriptions, Format Options, and Technology Tools.”

This CLE webinar will provide attendees with practical guidance on preparing and producing below-budget privilege logs that will not draw valid objections. The panelists will discuss the key components of a log, negotiating less onerous logging requirements, metadata and categorical logs, identifying flaws in adversaries’ privilege logs, and how technology can reduce cost, improve quality, and prevent privilege waiver.

The panel will review these and other issues:

- What categories of documents should ordinarily be negotiated out of privilege logs?
- How can technology be deployed to create internally-consistent privilege logs efficiently?
- When are metadata and/or categorical privilege logs appropriate?
- What best practices can be gleaned from recent cases, particularly when responding to objections and seeking to avoid waiver or other sanctions?
