Dan Anziska, a partner with Troutman Pepper, was quoted in the April 13, 2023 Law360 article, "Biden's Accelerated EV Push Has Auto, Truck Cos. On Edge."

"The IRA and before that, the funding aspects of the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law, that was the carrot, and now it's the stick: Here are the environmental regulations. So it's not just about all these tax incentives, benefits and grants, it's about complying with U.S. law," Troutman Pepper partner Dan Anziska told Law360. "We all have to get serious about domestication of the supply chain of the batteries, the battery components and processing of minerals. Everything else needs to line up because this is further evidence that the auto manufacturer really, in the next few years, needs to make this transformation."
