Press Coverage | July 15, 2025

Christine Byrnes' Views on Solar and Storage Priorities in US Energy

WRITTEN BY

Christine Byrnes

Over the last six months, the U.S. energy market has shifted considerably as it responds to a combination of the long-term industry trends of increased load growth and sustainability and the current reprioritizations under the Trump administration of "energy dominance". In particular, the massive growth of U.S. data centers and their exploding energy demand, along with a renewed appetite for oil and natural gas development, is influencing investment activity.

Click here to read the full article on Greentech Lead.

RELATED INDUSTRIES + PRACTICES

- Energy

©2026 Troutman Pepper Locke