If your business has a website, you should consider joining this webinar to learn how to best protect your website against growing legal attacks. Privacy and other laws are being leveraged for a new and aggressive wave of litigation. For example, ambiguity in wiretapping laws, coupled with courts favorable to plaintiffs, is leading to a rise in cases filed where plaintiffs are asserting that companies are recording website interactions without customer consent and sharing with third party providers. This webinar will cover the landscape of current litigation and outline best practices on how to protect your website.
