

Contractor's Claims, Remedies and Reliefs

WRITTEN BY

R. Zachary Torres-Fowler | Albert Bates, Jr. | David E. Harrell

---

Troutman Pepper Locke Partners Albert Bates, Zachary Torres-Fowler, and David E. Harrell published an article titled "Contractor's Claims, Remedies and Reliefs" in Global Arbitration Review.

Introduction

Construction and engineering disputes continue to make up one of the largest industry sectors for international arbitration institutions around the world. Given the technical complexity and lengthy duration of many construction projects, disputes are almost inevitable. Contractors must understand their rights and how best to protect their interests during an ongoing project. In the often rough and tumble world of international construction projects, a contractor's failure to carefully enforce its rights may lead to hardship that could have otherwise been avoided.

Click here to read the full article in *Global Arbitration Review*.

RELATED INDUSTRIES + PRACTICES

- Construction
- International Arbitration