With the COVID-19 pandemic, many companies – public and private – have been focusing on “back burner” corporate “housekeeping” projects, as well as “repositioning” projects designed to improve efficiencies with so much of their workforce remote and expectations that this arrangement will continue long term. Join the Association of Corporate Counsel – Greater Philadelphia’s panel as they discuss these projects, and how they can help your company realize significant future cost savings.

Scott Jones will be speaking during the ACC’s “Corporate Housekeeping Projects to Tackle Now and Come Out of COVID-19 Stronger,” which will be held Wednesday, February 10, 2021.
