

Podcasts | March 2, 2023

Crypto Year in Review 2022: Crypto Enforcement and the U.S. Treasury

The Crypto Exchange Podcast

SPEAKERS

Keith J. Barnett | Ethan G. Ostroff | Carlin A. McCrory

In the fourth and final segment of our four-part Crypto Year in Review series, Ethan Ostroff, Keith Barnett, and Carlin McCrory discuss how the U.S. Treasury Department — including the Office of Foreign Asset Control (OFAC) and Financial Crimes Enforcement Network (FinCEN) bureaus — functions in the digital asset space. Our speakers examine how these financial services regulators seek to deter criminal activity, such as money laundering, financing of terrorist activities, AML/CFT violations, and sanctions compliance in the digital asset space in 2022, and what we can expect in 2023.

Be on the lookout for the next episode of The Crypto Exchange, focusing on autorenewals.

RELATED INDUSTRIES + PRACTICES

- Consumer Financial Services
- Digital Assets + Blockchain
- Financial Services
- Payments + Financial Technology
- White Collar Litigation + Investigations