In this episode of The Consumer Finance Podcast, Troutman Pepper Partner Chris Willis is joined by colleagues Ethan Ostroff and Trey Smith to discuss the current landscape of cryptocurrency regulation and enforcement. Our team offers insights to the industry about various topics, including:

- Regulation of cryptocurrency at the federal and state level, and what the regulators are targeting;
- The involvement of state attorneys general in cryptocurrency and enforcement;
- Movement on the legislative front, including New York's Cryptocurrency Regulation, Protection, Transparency, and Oversight Act, and the U.S. House of Representatives Financial Services Committee release of the Digital Asset Market Structure Discussion Draft; and
- What we can expect in the future with regard to cryptocurrency regulation and enforcement.
