The second part of our webinar series will focus on the regulations surrounding cybersecurity audits, treatment of insurance companies, and other significant changes to existing CCPA regulations. Participants will gain insights into the applicability, timing, and scope of cybersecurity audits, including the requirements for businesses to conduct audits based on revenue thresholds and risk factors. We will explore the detailed requirements for audit reports, including the documentation of cybersecurity measures and identification of potential data breach risks.

We also will analyze the new regulation providing guidance for how insurance companies should comply with the CCPA regulations. Finally, we will discuss updates to the existing regulations, including cookie banners, privacy policies, and opt-out preference signals. Attendees will leave with a comprehensive understanding of how these changes impact their operations and the steps necessary to maintain compliance.
