Troutman Pepper partner, Kim Phan, will present “Dawn of the Web3 Era and the Legal Landscape on Blockchain, NFTs, and Metaverses” during NCVAA’s 16th Annual Conference in New York City. With the recent explosion of cryptocurrencies and other blockchain technologies, many companies are looking ahead to what this means for the next generation of the Internet. Like with most innovative technologies and business models, there is still some legal uncertainty as the law and regulations still have some catching up to do. Join Kim Phan and fellow panelists as they share the basics of blockchain, NFTs, and metaverses in the Web3 ecosystem and the legal challenges that will ensue in this space.
