

Podcasts | December 10, 2025

Early-Stage Spotlight – Kyha’s Approach to Women’s Health

SPEAKERS

Stephen M. Fox

In this episode of PE Pathways, Stephen Fox, a member of the health care and life science transactional team, sits down with Chelsea May, CEO and co-founder of Kyha, one of our innovative SEED™ clients from the Emerging Companies + Venture Capital practice that recently presented at the Mid-Atlantic Capital Conference in Philadelphia this past October.

Kyha is a privacy-first, AI-powered women’s health platform designed to address the unmet need for trusted, medically backed, personalized answers, with access to certified experts when deeper care is needed. Their conversation explores Kyha’s origin story, the power of an all-female founding team, and practical lessons on startup building and the legal foundations required for growth.

RELATED INDUSTRIES + PRACTICES

- Emerging Companies + Venture Capital
- Health Care + Life Sciences
- Private Equity