

Podcasts | November 6, 2024

Emerging Trends in Consumer Protection: A Conversation With NAAG's Kate Donovan

Regulatory Oversight Podcast

SPEAKERS

Stephen C. Piepgrass | Clayton S. Friedman

In this episode of Regulatory Oversight, Clay Friedman, co-leader of the firm's State Attorneys General team, welcomes Kate Donovan, consumer counsel at the National Association of Attorneys General (NAAG). The conversation highlights Kate's extensive career in consumer protection, her transition to NAAG, and the emerging trends and initiatives in consumer protection.

Kate shares insights from her diverse experiences, including her time in Arkansas, California, and Japan, and discusses the evolving landscape of AI, social media, and solar financing. Clayton and Kate also discuss NAAG's role in supporting state attorneys general through training, legislative advocacy, and collaboration with federal agencies.

RELATED INDUSTRIES + PRACTICES

- Artificial Intelligence
- State Attorneys General
- Regulatory Investigations, Strategy + Enforcement