Press Coverage | April 15, 2024

EV and AV Manufacturers Want More Regulatory Clarity, Report Say

RELATED PROFESSIONALS

Marc D. Machlin | Andrea W. Wortzel

Marc Machlin, a partner in Troutman Pepper's Energy Practice Group, and Andrea Wortzel, chair of the firm's Environmental + Natural Resources Group, were quoted in the April 15, 2024 Automotive News article, "EV and AV Manufacturers Want More Regulatory Clarity, Report Say."

"It would be better in this sphere for states not to strike out too much on an individual basis, knowing the immense amount of investment required to build these factories and to support the electric vehicles," Marc Machlin, a partner at Troutman Pepper told Automotive News.

…

"Some states are more cautious than others, and the application of environmental regulatory programs to the various aspects of EV battery manufacturing can vary significantly from state to state," Andrea Wortzel, chair of Troutman Pepper Environmental + Natural Resources Group, said in the report.

RELATED INDUSTRIES + PRACTICES

- Automotive
- Electric Vehicle Technology + Sustainable Infrastructure
- Energy

©2026 Troutman Pepper Locke