Clayton Friedman and Michael Yaghi are featured and quoted in the Law360 article, "Ex-Crowell & Moring Attys Join Troutman's State AG Group."

In an email to Law360 Monday, Clayton Friedman said he was most passionate about his prior experiences in the Missouri Attorney General's office, working on multi-state enforcement actions. He was still passionate about that work today, he said.

"Having been in this space for nearly 40 years, I believe I bring a significant skillset and knowledge about both the substantive areas of law, and the multistate process having dealt with every state repeatedly on these issues," he said.
