Financial Institutions – Are You Ready? An Overview of Breach Threats, Notification Requirements, and Litigation Risks

SPEAKERS

Kim Phan | Mary C. Zinsner | Robyn W. Lin

Thursday, May 19 • 3:00 – 4:00 p.m. ET

Financial institutions of all sizes need to be mindful of and ready for the breach related threats that they face. Additionally, constantly evolving legal requirements and obligations to notify regulators and customers of security incidents, including a new notification requirement that went into effect for banks on May 1, 2022, pose compliance challenges. Litigation and enforcement actions following cybersecurity incidents are on the rise and can provide insights as well as cautionary tales for financial institutions. Join us for our webinar where we will discuss ways to make sure your organization is ready.
