Troutman Pepper Partner Chris Chuff is quoted in the Bloomberg Law article, "Individual Merger Suits Replacing Class Action in Strategy Shift."

"Since the Delaware Court of Chancery and certain federal courts have seemingly cracked down on the routinely alleged disclosure violations that plaintiffs often challenge in public mergers, plaintiffs have attempted to find other jurisdictions that do not see these types of suits as often with the hope that their mootness fee requests are received more favorably," Troutman Pepper Hamilton Sanders LLP partner Christopher Chuff said.
