NEW YORK – Aaron Abraham, a partner in Troutman Pepper’s national Construction Practice Group, has been recognized by Law360 as an MVP in Construction Law. Those selected as 2021 MVP’s are recognized for their hard-earned successes in high-stakes litigation, complex global matters, and record-breaking deals. Abraham was selected from nearly 1,000 applicants for his high-profile work for clients including JPMorgan Chase, Memorial Sloan Kettering, and SL Green, among many others.

“I am honored to be recognized by Law360 and remain dedicated to helping my clients navigate mission-critical legal hurdles,” Abraham said. “Our firm has particular depth in the construction industry, advising clients in some of the largest and most sophisticated construction projects in the world. This recognition is further proof of our team’s prominence in the space.”

Based in New York, Abraham represents owners and developers in both transactional and litigation construction matters. His clients include prominent corporate and institutional owners and developers as well as real estate and hospitality industry companies with large commercial, residential, and mixed-use projects.

Troutman Pepper’s Construction Practice Group is nationally recognized by organizations such as Chambers and Partners, U.S. News: Best Lawyers “Best Law Firms” and local publications across the country. For decades, the multifaceted construction team has been quickly and effectively handling large, complex problems in a wide range of transactional and litigation matters.

The 2021 class of Law360 MVP’s, which includes 182 attorneys from 77 firms spanning 37 practice areas, will be individually profiled in the weeks to come.
