Mia Lorick's arrival to Locke Lord's Houston office as a Litigation Partner, further growing the Firm's demonstrated dispute resolution capabilities in the region, was featured by Law360. During her interview, Lorick discussed Locke Lord's full-service national platform, talented attorneys across practice areas and the Firm's collaborative culture creating opportunities to further expand her service to clients and provide them with best-in-class support for any need.

"If a client has a corporate merger or tax question, I want them to have the best," she said, noting Locke Lord is known to be innovative and well prepared to handle legal questions and challenges related to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Lorick, who concentrates her practice on real estate litigation, commercial litigation and professional liability defense, is also a leader in furthering diversity and inclusion in the legal profession. She shared her excitement to support Locke Lord's leading diversity and inclusion initiatives – another factor that drove her move to the Firm — including assisting with recruiting and mentoring.
