

Articles + Publications | October 9, 2025

Life Sciences Companies May Turn to Spin-Offs to Avoid Sell-Offs

WRITTEN BY

Joseph F. Kadlec | Douglas G. Gray | LuAnne Morrow | Christopher M. Flanagan

Troutman Pepper Locke's Joseph Kadlec, Douglas Gray, LuAnne Morrow, and Christopher M. Flanagan recently authored the Reuters Legal News article "Life Sciences Companies May Turn to Spin-Offs to Avoid Sell-Offs" where they discuss spin-offs and split-offs as strategic alternatives for life sciences companies facing market and regulatory pressures.

RELATED INDUSTRIES + PRACTICES

- Corporate
- Health Care + Life Sciences
- Health Care + Life Sciences Intellectual Property
- Life Sciences Transactions
- Mergers + Acquisitions