Locke Lord Chair David Taylor was quoted by The Texas Lawbook on supporting clients throughout the COVID-19 pandemic and the Firm's strong performance in an article on 2020 law firm finance trends. "No one had any pandemic experience before," Taylor said. "We were all starting from the same place. Clients didn't know what was around the corner and we didn't either. We needed to help them figure it out."

Speaking to the Firm's solid activity across a number of practice areas, Taylor noted "M&A has done better than expected. We've seen an uptick in recent months. Our energy team has stayed busy. Public finance has been good. Bankruptcy has been active, and I think that is going to continue as businesses across several sectors face stress. Labor and employment has been extremely busy because literally every company has faced issues. There are going to be changes and challenges ahead for the real estate sector."
