Karen Grande, Partner in Locke Lord's Providence office, has been selected as the 2023 Legal Services Industry Leader by Providence Business News' Business Women Awards. The annual program recognizes leading women in their respective industries, and honorees will be recognized on May 25 during a lunchtime ceremony.

Karen Grande is in the Firm's Public Finance Group and finances public infrastructure and economic development projects. She represents government agencies and instrumentalities and has substantial experience working with first-time issuers. She often counsels clients with unusual problems and special situations and provides broad-based municipal law advice to municipal clients relating to application and amendment of their charters and the drafting and passage of legislation. She has developed experience relating to finances of distressed communities, focusing on powers of municipalities in proceedings under Chapter 9 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code.
