Wednesday, July 23 • 1:00 – 4:20 p.m. ET

Christopher Brolley, Callan Stein, and Michael Lowe will be featured speakers at the session titled “How NIL and the Courts are Transforming the NCAA” as part of the myLawCLE webinar, “Legal Strategies for Representing Today's College Athletes: Drafting NIL Agreements, Navigating Revenue Sharing, and NCAA Reforms,” on July 23, 2025.

This session will delve into the $2.5 billion class action settlement in House v. NCAA, approved by Judge Claudia Wilken. Panelists will discuss the implications for name, image, and likeness (NIL) compensation, athlete rights, and the future of college sports. Topics include settlement terms, court findings on roster limits, collective bargaining, antitrust law compliance, and Title IX. The role of the college sports commission and enforcement will also be addressed.

Troutman Pepper Locke is pleased to offer a complimentary access code for this webinar. For free access please enter ‘NIL2025CLE’ when registering for free access to the webinar.
