It will also provide an overview of the NVLSP organization and how they work to provide legal help to veterans. You will obtain a baseline understanding of types of matters NVLSP and Troutman attorneys work on together and how you can be a part of this effort.

Join us on October 28 to learn more about this fantastic organization and the firm's veterans pro bono work.

This presentation will be led by David Sonenshine, NVLSP Senior Staff Attorney; Clarissa Cashmore, NVLSP Staff Attorney; Matthew Handley, Equal Justice Works Fellow Sponsored by Lockheed Martin Corporation; and Zach Outzen, Equal Justice Works Fellow Sponsored by the Lavan-Harris Charitable Fund.

We hope to see you there!
