David Harrell will have an informative discussion during UTLawCLE's "Navigating Privilege Considerations in Implementing Effective Corporate Compliance Programs" panel on June 18.

Join David as he explores how compliance programs can have a variety of purposes and take a variety of forms depending on the nature of a company's business and the regulatory framework within which it operates. Often times, complying with anti-bribery laws like the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and other federal and state anti-corruption laws can at one time or another lead to internal investigations. He will also discuss the Justice Department's criteria for evaluating effective corporate compliance programs, Texas state and federal developments in attorney-client privilege and attorney work product, and practical considerations for the implementation of effective corporate compliance programs.
