February 24 – 26, 2025

Our hydropower team will be speaking in multiple sessions during the 2025 NWHA Annual Conference, which will be held on February 24-25, 2025, in Seattle, Washington. Andrea Wortzel and Dustin Till will open the conference with a discussion exploring the role that politics plays in shaping the regulatory framework. Elizabeth McCormick will then provide a framework and overview of the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA). Chuck Sensiba will discuss the challenges licensees have encountered in the last five years and how these challenges differ from those in previous years.
