We have long predicted that just as other states followed California in passing breach notification laws, states would follow in California's footsteps in regulating information privacy practices with the California Consumer Privacy Act of 2018 (CCPA), which was later amended by the California Privacy Rights Act of 2020 (CPRA). The Virginia state legislature recently became the first state to do so, surprising many with news that it quickly passed and signed into law comprehensive privacy legislation, namely the Virginia Consumer Data Protection Act (CDPA).

Join our speakers as they discuss Virginia's CDPA and how it compares to California's approach to privacy under the CCPA and CPRA.
