Power Play: Navigating EPA's New Rulebook

SPEAKERS

Gerald J. Pels | Elizabeth Phillips Corey

Join Troutman Pepper Locke's Gerry Pels and Elizabeth Corey as they explore the proposed rulemakings in the EPA that aim to roll back the emissions and performance standards for electric generating units (EGUs), or power plants. Learn about the scope of the proposed repeals and other new rules, their legal and regulatory basis, and anticipated litigation in light of existing Supreme Court precedent.

00:21 – What are the specifics of the proposed rollbacks, new rules, and the relevant historical context?

03:32 – How does the current EPA approach of regulating source categories differ from previous EPA approaches?

05:49 – How could the anticipated challenges to these proposed rules play out in the courts?

07:38 – What steps should industry players take in response to these proposed changes?
