With M&A activity slower than in recent years, sponsors and investors have looked for alternate ways to find liquidity. One solution is a continuation fund, whereby asset(s) from a prior fund are moved into a new vehicle, rather than sold to third parties. Morgan Klinzing and Theodore Edwards of Troutman Pepper and Joe Scilio of KPMG discuss general structuring considerations for continuation funds and related tax and accounting considerations during the PECFOA meeting on April 30, 2024 in Berwyn, Pennsylvania.
