

Articles + Publications | March 15, 2023

Private Equity Perspectives: Episode Two – The Shifting Market for Buyers

SPEAKERS

Matthew M. Greenberg | Jeremy I. Levy

A Troutman Pepper Impact Series

As changing market conditions and geopolitical risks continue to pose challenges for dealmakers, it can be difficult to identify and capitalize on opportunities. In this series, members of Troutman Pepper's Private Equity practice draw from their experiences in the marketplace to provide commentary, guidance, and predictions about the private equity industry.

Want to move confidently through the changing times? We invite you to reach out to our team to connect.

What impact does the market shift favoring buyers in 2023 have on the private equity industry? In this episode, Troutman Pepper Partners Matt Greenberg and Jeremy Levy discuss the significant effect of the cost of debt on the deployment of capital in Q1, but trends pointing toward a less volatile future market could signal a shift in buyer's cautiousness for the remainder of this year.

RELATED INDUSTRIES + PRACTICES

- Private Equity