Ron Raether, leader of Troutman Pepper's Privacy + Cyber Industry Group, was interviewed in the April 26, 2023 BankInfoSecurity article, "Protecting CISOs From Taking the Blame."

"Just like a CISO, a general counsel might be seen as the individual that is a cost center, that says 'no' to projects and is seen as an impediment to revenue generation or product functionality," he said. "Being able to bring in these resources together to act unanimously is going to help instill some of those cultural changes that are needed to reduce the overall risk profile of an organization."
