Please join Consumer Financial Services Partner Chris Willis and his colleague and fellow Partner Jordi de Llano as they discuss recent developments in anti-money laundering. In this episode, the attorneys examine FinCen's September 2022 final rule, which implements guidance on new beneficial ownership information reporting requirements of the Corporate Transparency Act (CTA), as well as take a deeper dive into recent developments and what it means for different entities.

Jordi de Llano formerly served as assistant U.S. attorney and deputy chief of the Securities, Financial, and Cyber Fraud Unit in the U.S. attorney's office in Boston. He also previously ran the Financial Crimes/Suspicious Activity Report (SAR) Review Task Force at the U.S. attorney's office in Lexington, KY. In that role, Jordi oversaw all investigations involving SARs, Bank Secrecy Act (BSA) violations, and money laundering. He also served as the primary liaison for the U.S. attorney's office with local financial institutions regarding BSA compliance issues. With nearly a decade of experience as a seasoned federal prosecutor managing complex financial investigations, Jordi now focuses on representing corporate and individual clients facing criminal cases and government investigations.
