Brad Weber, a partner in Troutman Pepper Locke's Business Litigation Practice Group, was quoted in the January 1, 2025 Law360 article, "Residential Real Estate Cases to Watch in 2025."

The DOJ's focus on algorithmic price-setting tools is not likely to change with a new presidential administration, according to Bradley Weber, co-chair of Locke Lord LLP's antitrust practice and artificial intelligence industry groups.

"I think it will probably still be a priority, although they may to some extent change some of their arguments or their theories," Weber said. "For the most part I think it's an issue that both Republicans and Democrats might agree on."
