

Firm News | December 14, 2021

Richard Glovsky Featured on Radio Entrepreneurs Podcast Discussing Vaccine Mandates

RELATED PROFESSIONALS

Richard D. Glovsky

Boston Partner Richard Glovsky was featured on Radio Entrepreneurs discussing the federal COVID-19 vaccine mandate in the United States for employers with 100 or more employees. Glovsky outlined obstacles to the mandate's implementation, including states' lawsuits to block it. He also commented on exemptions for individual employees, including the feasibility of accommodations.

"One determination that employers have to make is: Can the employee do the job remotely, or must the employee be in the workplace? If the employee is going to be in the workplace, then what is going to be required?" he said.

To listen to the full episode, click here.

Please note the podcast was recorded before the appeals court cases to which Glovsky refers were transferred to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 6th Circuit.