Jay Dubow, a co-leader of Troutman Pepper's Securities Investigations and Enforcement Practice Group, was quoted in the Business Insurance article, "SEC Solarwinds Cyber Probe Puts Companies on Notice."

"The lesson is, in the future, if you or your service provider has one of these data breaches, I think you have to make sure you've considered disclosure and control issues that are implicated as a result of that, because clearly we know that the SEC is interested in that," said Jay A. Dubow, a partner with Troutman Pepper Hamilton Sanders LLP, who is a former staff attorney and branch chief for the SEC's enforcement division.
