Securing Justice for Veterans

A longtime energy client wanted to collaborate with the firm on a pro bono initiative benefiting U.S. military veterans.

Our Approach

We mobilized a dedicated team to join the client in representing an Army veteran in a significant U.S. Supreme Court case focused on whether veterans could access expanded educational benefits under both the Post-9/11 GI Bill and the Montgomery GI Bill. Our combined pro bono team successfully secured a landmark victory, affirming the entitlement of billions in educational benefits under these programs.

The Outcome

The Supreme Court's decision enables over 1.7 million veterans to receive additional educational benefits previously denied by the Department of Veterans Affairs. This ruling significantly expands educational opportunities for veterans, underscoring the importance of supporting their academic pursuits and honoring their service with comprehensive benefits.

©2026 Troutman Pepper Locke