

Podcasts | November 16, 2022

State of the Law: Contours of State False Claims Acts and How to Stay Out of Harm's Way

Regulatory Oversight Podcast

SPEAKERS

Stephen C. Piepgrass | Amy Pritchard Williams | Asher D. Funk

In this episode of Regulatory Oversight, Stephen Piepgrass welcomes Regulatory Investigations, Strategy + Enforcement Partner Amy Williams and Health Sciences Partner Asher Funk to discuss the similarities and differences between the federal False Claims Act and state false claims acts, as well as emerging trends in state false claims act enforcement.

Though many states enacted false claims acts decades ago, we now see more enforcement activity and unique legal theories advanced by attorneys general who rely on false claims acts. Our attorneys discuss this shift, the intersection of matters brought under the federal and state false claims acts, areas ripe for enforcement, how our listeners can proactively avoid being on the receiving end of a CID, and what to do if they are.

RELATED INDUSTRIES + PRACTICES

- Health Care + Life Sciences
- Health Care Transactions
- White Collar Litigation + Investigations
- State Attorneys General