Barry Honea, Chief Financial Officer at Locke Lord, is speaking at the Clocktimizer Webinar on November 4, 2020 on the topic of “The C-Level Perspective: Profitability in 2021 and How Tech Can Accelerate It.”

Making decisions without data is just guesswork. With all the upheavals we have experienced in 2020, data will be essential in setting the right strategy for any firm in 2021. In this webinar, we will look at how executives can leverage the latest technology, like Clocktimizer, to better understand who is doing what, when, where, and at what cost within their firm, in order to make the right choices for pricing, profitability, and market positioning.
