

Podcasts | July 25, 2024

The Future of Bank-Fintech Partnerships and Banking as a Service

The Consumer Finance Podcast

SPEAKERS

Chris J. Willis | Jesse B. Silverman

In this episode of The Consumer Finance Podcast, Chris Willis is joined by Jesse Silverman, a seasoned member of Troutman Pepper's Financial Services team, and Alex Johnson, a fintech industry expert and author of the Fintech Takes newsletter. The episode delves into the evolving landscape of bank-fintech partnerships and banking as a service, exploring the regulatory challenges and existential risks faced by fintech companies. The conversation highlights the need for more robust regulatory frameworks, improved consumer disclosures, and the importance of serious, well-vetted partnerships to ensure the sustainability and innovation of the fintech sector. Tune in to gain insights into the future of fintech and the critical role of regulatory compliance in fostering a secure and innovative financial ecosystem.

RELATED INDUSTRIES + PRACTICES

- Payments + Financial Technology
- Consumer Financial Services
- Consumer Financial Protection Bureau \(CFPB\)