The Future of Chevron Deference

The Consumer Finance Podcast

SPEAKERS

Misha Tseytlin | Chris Willis

Please join Troutman Pepper Partners Chris Willis and Misha Tseytlin as they discuss the Supreme Court's recent decision to review Loper Bright Enterprises v. Sec. of Commerce, which will consider the question of whether to overrule Chevron deference for agency interpretations of statutes. Chris and Misha discuss what may happen if Chevron deference is overruled, either in whole or in part, including how this may affect pending lower court cases, the potential impact on future Administrative Procedure Act cases, and the implications for agency rulemakings that may have relied on Chevron deference when promulgated.
