As part of the IBA Global Influencer Forum, join Locke Lord for “The Path of an InsurTech” when seeing to enter the insurance marketing in the United States.

Topics:

- Factors to consider when launching a technology-based platform requiring startup capital and outside investors
- Limitations on certain insurance-related marketing or distribution activities that could be prohibited under law or require insurance-related licenses
- Various methods an InsurTech may have “skin in the game” if it assumes risk on insurance products that it helps develop or service
