PHILADELPHIA – Troutman Pepper client Proscia®, a leading provider of digital and computational pathology solutions, has secured $23 million in Series B funding led by Scale Venture Partners, with participation from Hitachi Ventures. The investment brings Proscia's total funding to $35 million. Read a company press release about the financing.

Proscia aims to perfect cancer diagnosis with intelligent software that changes the way the world practices pathology. The company is accelerating the transformation to digital pathology with its Concentriq® software platform, which centers around high-resolution images of tissue biopsies, as the new standard of care.

Troutman Pepper's Thomas Dwyer, Kenneth Minturn, Ravenna Neville, Michael Crumbock and Morgan Klinzing counseled Proscia in the Series B financing. The firm has advised Proscia since 2017, including in its \$8.3 million round of Series A financing from a group of East and West Coast venture capital firms in September 2018.

The firm regularly advises startup, emerging growth and venture capital clients through every stage of their life cycle. Industries served span software, hardware and other high-technology, life sciences, biotechnology, pharmaceuticals and medical devices, financial technology, healthcare, consumer products, food and beverage, media and telecommunications products and services, and many others.
