ATLANTA – Klöckner & Co has agreed to acquire National Material of Mexico (NMM), a leading independent service center and materials supplier serving automotive and industrial end markets in North America with 10 facilities throughout Mexico. The transaction is made through Klöckner & Co's U.S. subsidiary and Troutman Pepper client, Kloeckner Metals Corporation (KMC). Read a company press release about the acquisition online here.

The acquisition will significantly expand KMC's footprint in Mexico, enabling the company to increase its presence where the key automotive and industrial customers are located. The parties have agreed to a consideration of $340 million on a cash and debt free basis. Closing of the transaction requires antitrust approvals and is expected before summer 2023.

A Troutman Pepper team led by Partners Andrea Farley and Joseph Kadlec and including Thomas Gray, Barbara Sicalides, Morgan Klinzing, Victor Noriega, and Michael Seymour, among many others, advised KMC in the complex, cross-border transaction.
