NEW YORK – Troutman Pepper Locke advised Station Partners in its strategic growth investment in First Children Services (FCS), a family-owned and operated organization that provides a comprehensive continuum of care, taking an integrated approach to special education and therapeutic services. For more information, see the press release.

Based in Morristown, NJ, Station Partners is a private investment firm focused on making control and control-like investments in profitable U.S. businesses. Station Partners was formed to make transformative investments in concert with management teams leading lower middle market businesses with the potential for immediate growth. The investment in FCS will support the company in its next phase of growth and help expand its critical service offerings to even more children across the region.
