WILMINGTON – Troutman Pepper Locke represented MediSpend, a global leading provider of compliance and stakeholder engagement solutions for the life sciences industry, in its definitive agreement to merge with RLDatix Life Sciences, a subsidiary of RLDatix. The merger creates a unified company focused on advancing life sciences innovation and compliance. The new entity offers a comprehensive suite of software, data, and workflow tools to support global compliance, transparency, and sales enablement throughout the life sciences lifecycle. For more information, see the press release.

Earlier this year, Troutman Pepper Locke also advised MediSpend on its strategic acquisitions of Real Life Sciences and Alucio. Real Life Sciences is a leader in advanced anonymization solutions for clinical trial and other data. Alucio is an innovative technology company known for its AI-powered content management and health care professional engagement platform, BEACON. These acquisitions significantly bolstered MediSpend's capabilities and resources, as well as supported its ongoing mission to empower life sciences companies to grow their business compliantly while delivering more meaningful stakeholder interactions and insights.
