EIGHT REPUBLICAN AGS EXPRESS CONCERNS ABOUT PERCEIVED LIBERAL PARTISANSHIP AT NAAG

By Ashley Taylor, Stephen Piepgrass, and Ketan Bhirud

On May 24, Kentucky Attorney General Daniel Cameron sent a letter to the National Association of Attorneys General (NAAG), expressing concerns about perceived partisanship. Joined by the attorneys general of Alaska, Florida, Louisiana, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Utah, and Virginia, the letter explains that these eight attorneys general believe “NAAG needs structural reform [t]o avoid partisanship” and “greater transparency prior to [] receiving, holding, and expending certain kinds of funds.” The attorneys general also worry about “increasingly partisan programming, and the seeming exclusion of conservative members in favor of more liberal ones.” They explain these concerns have “resulted in NAAG’s promotion of ‘entrepreneurial litigation’ and ‘suing businesses for profit,’ all of which is ‘more in line with the plaintiffs’ bar’ than making whole those who have been harmed.” They have requested that NAAG respond to these concerns by June 6.

NEW JERSEY AG SETTLES WITH SOLAR COMPANY OVER CONSUMER FRAUD ALLEGATIONS IN SALE AND LEASE OF SOLAR ENERGY PANELS

By Ryan Strasser, Mackenzie Willow-Johnson, and Natalia Jacobo

On May 3, the New Jersey Attorney General’s Office announced a settlement with Princeton-based solar company NRG Residential Solar Solutions LLC (NRG) for $69,000 to resolve the state AG’s investigation into alleged deceptive sales practices. Specifically, the New Jersey AG alleged NRG mislead consumers into leasing solar energy panels by making representations regarding savings, servicing, installation, and financing but failed to deliver on these promises. This failure, according to the AG, violated the New Jersey Consumer Fraud Act and related consumer protection regulations. The settlement includes, among other things, NRG’s agreement to change its policies and practices and enter into binding arbitration to resolve pending consumer complaints.

DELTA-8 THC PRODUCTS TO REMAIN ON VIRGINIA STORE SHELVES, FOR NOW

By Michael Jordan, Agustin Rodriguez, and Christina Sava

On April 27, the Virginia Senate voted to send SB 591, which would have effectively eliminated the delta-8 tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) product market in Virginia, back to committee, killing the bill for this year's legislative session. The move allows Virginia retailers to continue marketing the products for now despite growing calls nationwide for more regulation of delta-8 THC and other hemp-derived products that can produce psychoactive effects.

FALSE CLAIMS ACT RISK FOR GOVERNMENT CONTRACTORS: AEROJET ROCKETDYNE SETTLEMENT LATEST CHAPTER

By Ron Raether, Jim Koenig, Ashley Taylor, Hilary Cairnie, and Daniel Waltz

On April 29, Aerojet Rocketdyne Holdings Inc. (Aerojet) settled claims by whistleblower Brain Markus for a reported $9 million after the second day of a jury trial. This is the second recent settlement under the False Claims Act (FCA) relating to alleged misrepresentations about a company's cybersecurity practices and systems in connection with government contracts. We recently covered the settlement between the Department of Justice (DOJ) and Comprehensive Health Services here. These two recent settlements highlight a growing trend to use the FCA as a mechanism to hold vendors that do business with the federal government accountable for meeting federal cybersecurity requirements.
